General feedback (5 points):

Hi Nicole! I enjoyed learning about skin shedders and your interest in forensic sciences! I wish you the best.

Here is my general feedback:

You got an overall assessment of good because I think there are some improvements that you could make to your paper. First, I noticed a few grammar and spelling errors, for example: “fifhteen” should be “fifteen.” Also, in the second paragraph where the sentence starts with “Currently,” the comma after “categories” should be a colon instead of a comma because you are listing “heavy, intermediate, and light.” Second, in that same paragraph there is a direct quote. Consider putting this quote into your own words. In the instructions, Dr. Davis asks not to include direct quotes and instead put them into your own words to demonstrate understanding of your topic. Third, I think the explanations could be more specific and more clear. The methodology is a bit confusing to me. I do not understand what "deposition consistency" means, and what does it mean by counting cells? Does the Diamond Dye show flakes of skin? I don't understand what is being shed. I think the findings could also be more clear. The percentages and numbers given are a bit confusing.

*Also, here name is “Tamara” not “Tamera”

Overall assessment (excellent, good, needs improvement): Good.
