General feedback (5 points):

- I enjoyed learning about how snakes can respond to their environments through adaptation and evolution to find proper heat sources.
- There are a few wording mistakes.
- The news article does follow the recommended format, but it does contain a small number of spelling and grammatical errors.
- I feel like the news article is a little bit wordy
- I recommend changing the wording of a few sentences in the report. For example, I would recommend changing the starting word of the thesis.
- Citations need to be fixed and be put into the alphabetical order and ensure the citations follow the format.
- The thesis statement needs to be fixed to properly introduce the topic to the reader in the introduction paragraph. The beginning of the thesis needs to be reworded. (due to enduring...)
- I recommend defining the TRPA1 gene a little bit more for the reader to comprehend it more. You have explained its affects very well, but we don't know what the gene is entirely.
- I would recommend that the conclusion is lengthened and add more summarization of the article.

Overall assessment (excellent, good, needs improvement):

I would say that your news article is good so far but can be improved through making a few grammatical corrections and rewording for clarity.
