General feedback (5 points):

Overall a good essay, but the citations were missing. Make sure to not only include your recourses in the 'references' section, but also in the paragraphs of the text. See the 'Biological citation styles' section in Moodle on how to include citations.

The paper was overall pretty clear, but the meaning of some words were not clear to me (although they might be for others). Try to better explain words like 'endemic' species and 'speciation'.

Try to avoid sentences that are too long (like the last sentence of the first paragraph). It also seems like there is a word missing in the first sentence of the second paragraph. Besides that, I did not notice any spelling or grammatical error.

The article does follow the guidelines and paper length/format.

Overall assessment (excellent, good, needs improvement):

Good, but make sure that in-text citations are added.
