General feedback (5 points):

Overall, I really enjoyed reading about this topic! I think you do a really nice job of explaining this study in a way in which non-expert individuals can understand. I also found the findings of this research to be very interesting and applicable to college students! One thing I recommend working on is adding more information about how this discovery will help scientists comprehend larger issues or concepts. I think you do a great job discussing the multiple findings of the study, but I would potentially work on adding a little bit more about what it all means in the overall science field. Additionally, I would also recommend working on your grammar and the wording of some sentences. At times, it was a little difficult for me to understand what I was reading because of some present run-on sentences. I seemed to find the most run-on sentences in the last two paragraphs. Overall, great work!
