General feedback (5 points):

Great job, Cora!! 😊

I enjoyed reading about Harvard's "RoboCap" research which may change how insulin is administered. I really like how you made sure that your audience understood the mechanism of the RoboCap, and that you avoided jargon. The writing was smooth and flowed well. I also liked reading about what made you interested in this topic.

A few things I picked up on that will help your paper:

- State the purpose of the insulin hormone
- What is OCRC?
- Change to: "This is why insulin is administered primarily through..." (on page 1)
- Did you mean default or difficult? (on page 1)
- What is the luminal mucus barrier and why can't pills move through it?
- Change to: "a future option" (end of page 1)
- Add dates for your in-text citations

- There should not be direct quotes in scientific writing, so you should paraphrase the sentence on page 2
- Change to: “not only delivered..” (Mid page 2)
- “Snagging”, a more specific word should be used.

Overall assessment (excellent, good, needs improvement):
